Anticipation is that mystical treasure which lies at the end of every pathway of life. For the Christian, "the things that God hath prepared for them that love Him" constitute the fruition of our highest eternal anticipation.

It is only in lesser degree that we anticipate His blessing in life.

For those involved in the Lord's work at Whittier Christian High School, in this, its 9th year, anticipation has been high. We have seen God's blessing in full measure and have experienced His wonderful provision in the pathway we have trod together.

Enrollment this year was the highest in our history; a new office and reception room sharpened up our image and our efficiency; the library has expanded into its own quarters; a shaded eating area and new picnic tables enhanced the noon hour activities; new vending machines dispensing food and drink proved to be a welcomed addition; a Homecoming Queen was crowned for the first time; an Alumni Association was born; the first Alumni basketball team won a close one over the Herald varsity; Officers Retreat . . . student court . . . a chapter of the California Scholarship Federation formed . . . all these and more were the fruition of much anticipation in 1966-67.

And now the pathway ahead . . .

Seniors, you leave with our prayers. Each of us who has had the privilege of knowing you pray that the words of Proverbs 4:11 have been true of us: "I have taught thee in the way of wisdom; I have led thee in right paths."

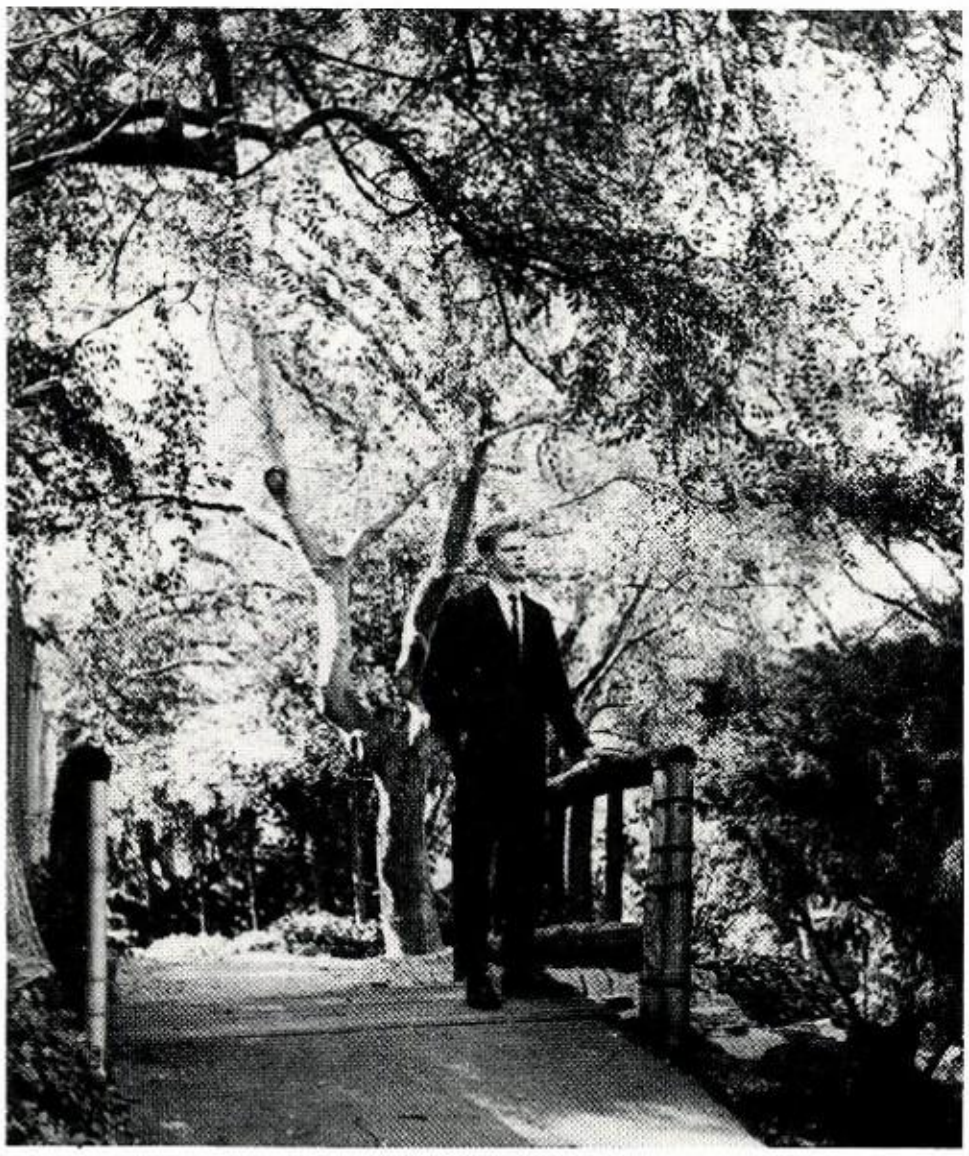
Underclassmen, we look forward to your return that together we might be led "in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake."

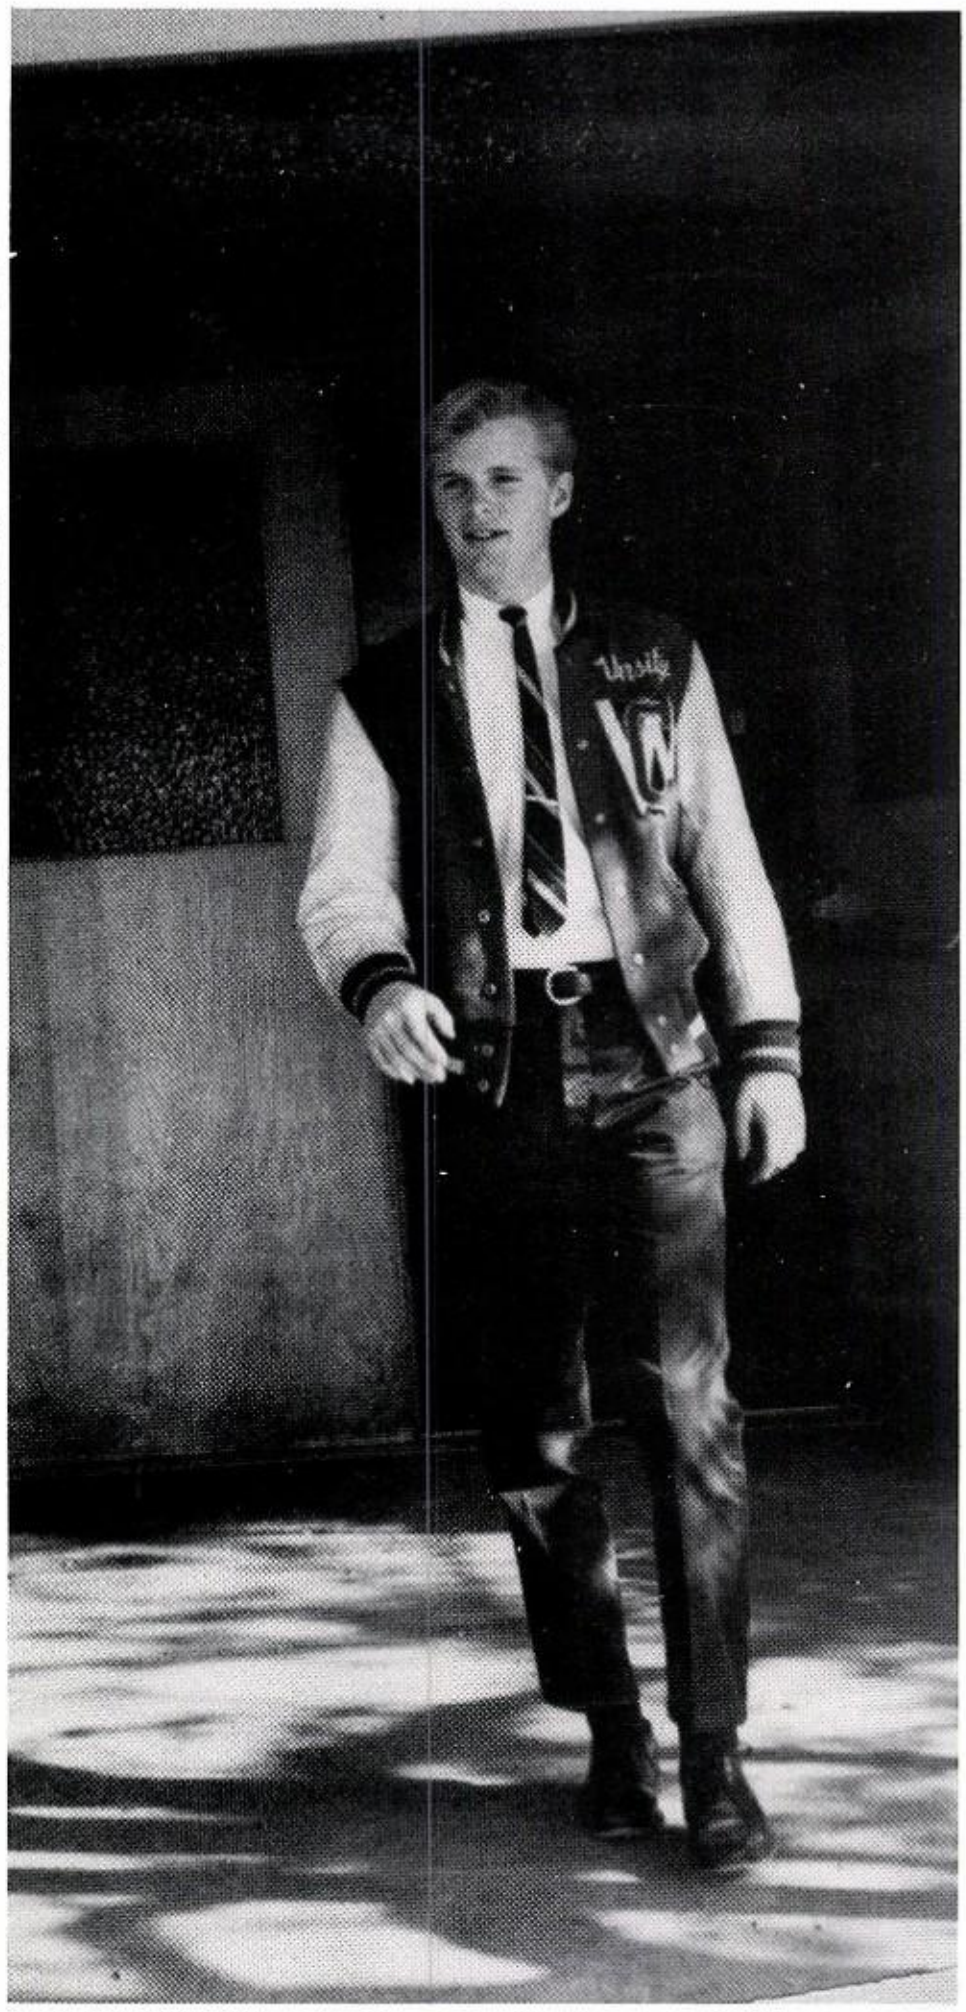
May our paths be "as the shining light that shineth more and more unto the perfect day." (Proverbs 4:18)

Eugene H. Birdsall

Trailguide

Pat Murphy





During the course of our high school years, we as students meet many achievements and failures. This year working on the student council has helped teach us, as council members, to accept both. Student government is a very difficult position to handle because it demands much work and understanding.

As president, I wish to thank each member of the council for the effort they put forth in doing an outstanding job in their respective positions.

We leave with the hope that our efforts have bettered the school and have served as a foundation for future efforts.

Pat Murphy

Senior Slave Day

Friends, Romans, and underclassmen . . . . .
Lend us your ears!
Is not this day the Ides of March?
Look in the calendar and be amazed
That March has wasted fifteen days.
Let it be known to those who stare
That this is the day you all must beware!
Let it be shown to all you knaves
That today is the day . . . the day of the slaves!
Let it be said to all who resist
That if you continue, your tongues may be missed.
We're the noblest masters of them all,
From the Forum in Rome, to the third part of Gaul.
We don't race our chariots in the Appian Way.
We voted for Caesar in the election today
So take heed to the signs that hang on your backs
Or you might get your toenails boiled in wax!
Be obedient slaves, don't gripe or complain
Things could be worse, we could be insane.

Trails Of The Pen

It's just about Thanksgiving Day;
You can smell it in the breeze,
"Cause Miss Costley's stuffin' her turkey
With stale Limburger cheese.

It may not smell the sweetest,
But for looks, it can't be beat;
'Cause the odor's so astounding,
You can't get near the meat!

To keep within the spirit
Of this Thanksgiving holiday
Let's think of several little things
We're thankful for today.

To begin with, there's play practice,
'Til late the night before;
And there's all those tests and quizzes
You forgot to study for.

Oh yes, there's Mr. McKinley,
That dashing little man;
And there's Mrs. T. in English
You know, the Murray-fan.

And of course, there's many other things
That you're thankful for at best.
So just settle back and cool it,
And enjoy you four-day-rest.

-Terry Hillis
1967 Poet Laureate

A yellow rose blossoms into the sunlight;
    The fragrance of pine in the woods;
Blue sky encircles a billowy white cloud;
    Fingers of freshness fall quietly down;
Where is love?

A thundering sea pounds at the shore;
    A young tree lifts its new branches;
A recent snowfall lays serene and icy;
    Stars shine in thousands against the darkness;
What is love?

Chimes sing, piercing the quietness;
    A finger points from heaven;
A voice speaks the righteous truth;
    A saving cross lightens the world;
God is love.

-Ellen Veum

LIFE

Life is a complex puzzle
A joy to find every part,
But alas, the picture blurs
And darkness covers the heart.

Life is a weak construction
A monument of sand,
Wind blows roughly and destroys
With one destructive hand.

Life is a sturdy soldier
But always engaged in war,
It battles with truth and freedom
Life dies, and kills no more.

No, life is joy and loving God.
Life is peace and giving,
Life is eternal happiness
Life's not dead, but living.

-Ellen Veum

Stars are like pools of light . . .
    in a deep dark mist . . .
They shine like hundreds of candles that are trying to make the night . . .
        into morning . . .
It is like looking into a deep black jewelry box filled and overunning with diamonds. . .
Stars make me feel
  light, and airy . . .
    as if at any moment
      I might fly up and join them.

They make me feel small and insignificant compared to the vastness of the universe . . .

And then I wonder,
  If I feel this small just looking at the sky
What will I feel like when I see the Creator of it all?

-Katie Tree

Flourishing business, the spark . . . lighting the fire of industry . . .
A flourishing fire,
glowing . . . to illumine our pathway . . .
Business . . .
urging us to our goals
as guides . . .
as sponsors. . .
People with interest . . .
involved . . .
financially. . . emotionally . . .
concerned . . .
in our attempts and failures . . .
But more,
in ourselves.

Romans 12:1,2 as from Living Letters

"And so, dear brothers, I plead with you to give your bodies to God. Let them be a living sacrifice, holy—the kind He can accept. When you think of what He has done for you, is this too much to ask?

Don't copy the fashions and customs of this world, but be a new and different person with a fresh newness in all you do and think. Then you will see from your own experience how His ways will really satisfy you."

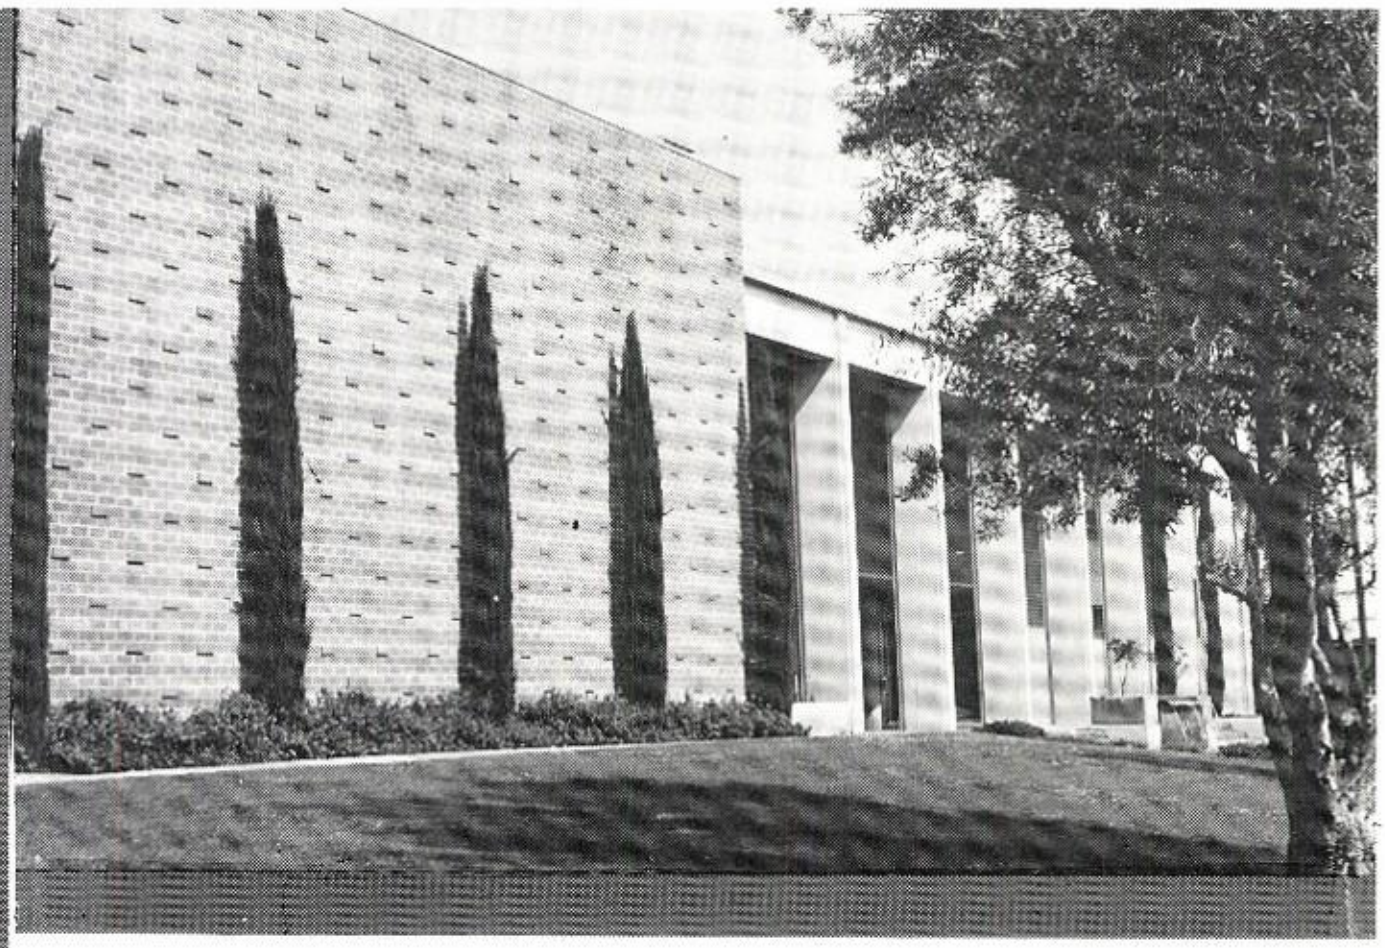
ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE — HIGHEST SPIRITUAL STANDARDS

Approximately 20 majors and programs are available in the six academic divisions. In addition, specialization is also available within certain majors. For example, in history one may select an emphasis in Far Eastern, Western European, American, or Latin American.



Sutherland Hall is one of the many major structures on campus. It contains 17 classrooms, faculty and administrative offices, and the 800-seat Ethel Lee Memorial Auditorium.

An effective and highly regarded professor, Dr. William Bass, Ph.D., University of Southern California and B.D., Fuller Theological Seminary is Chairman of the Division of Humanities and Professor of Philosophy.

The Division of Humanities at Biola College embraces the departments of English, Foreign Language, Library Science, Linguistics, Philosophy, and Speech. Through the writings of such men as Plato and Ayer, and Sophocles and Eliot a student of the humanities gains a critical insight into the knowledge of the world of men and ideas.

Biola College is accredited with the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. In addition, with accreditation through the Collegiate Division of the Accrediting Association of Bible Colleges, Biola students receive from two to three times more Bible and doctrine than other comparable Christian liberal arts colleges require.

The pages of a year
The log of a trail.

Hearts, minds
Wrenched by dividing paths.
Soft good-byes,
Promises made,
Never kept
Forever remembered.
All caught up in the cycle of life's trail, leaving,
returning,
stopping--one moment
in the struggles of another trial.
Honoring yesterday,
All it meant,
All it means Today,
Tomorrow's yesterday
Diminishes on the horizon,
Fading into the sunset.
